The Resort at Pedregal, Cabo San Lucas

Cabo San Lucas is an elite resort town at the southern tip of Mexico's Baja Peninsula, known for its famously beautiful coastline and long list of breathtaking luxury hotels. At the top of that list is The Resort at Pedregal, a romantic boutique resort so secluded that it is accessed via a private tunnel cutting through the base of steep mountains. The cliff-side property was designed to ensure splendid sea views from nearly every vantage, including every one of its 100-plus rooms and suites. Rooms have huge furnished balconies, all of which include a plunge pool with a view of the ocean. (Oceanfront casitas even have lawns, pools and fire pits.) The balconies are especially rewarding during whale-watching season (January through March, but particularly March). Binoculars are provided.
